

Click image to enlarge

This image is available to buy on the website

Good morning,

Driving through Oxfordshire one afternoon I noticed this field of Poppies off to the right that had been left to set seed. I've never seen this before so I stopped and took a couple of photos. It must have been quite something when they were in full flower. If this is a familiar site where you live do let me know because I have driven past this spot several times since and no Poppies.

In The Journal this week...

Coming soon... Posters

The Monday Picture

One image and the background story.
This photo was taken with Fuji X-T10

Until next Monday have a great week.

Murray
murrayaidlaw.com

